

Hawaii Green Building Conference in May 2006!

"Green" building techniques include energy efficiency, improved indoor air quality, green material selection, and sensitive site development. When done right, these techniques can provide a higher level of comfort and livability, reduce utility bills, and add value to new homes and developments.

The 2006 Hawaii Build & Buy Green Conference & Expo will present updates on the latest in greening approaches, programs, and products for building and design industry professionals, and military, federal, state and local government agencies.

WHO: Panels of local and national green building, design, and procurement professionals will share their expertise in New Home Building, LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) for Homes, Commercial Building New Construction and Existing Buildings, ENERGY STAR®, Green Purchasing, Construction and Demolition (C&D) waste management, and Greening Affordable Housing.

Seminar attendees are eligible to earn AIA CEUs**
